students like you since 1870.

We're Allen University, the oldest historically black college in South Carolina.

You won't get lost in the crowd

We understand how sometimes it is easy to feel overlooked, but not at Allen. We're a close community of students, educators and religious leaders working to educate young people and build strong men and women who can have an impact on their communities and beyond.

Everything we do is built on our five core values:
Integrity • Accountability • Respect • Excellence • Faith

We were founded by African Americans. Named for Richard Allen, the founder of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, the Allen experience is a mixture of educational, religious and community programs designed to help you discover the person you can be.

And we see you.

We see your talents.
We see your capabilities.
We see your potential.

Most of all, we see
you, the person.
